

CENTR 20th Anniversary

Call for contributions for a research paper

Context

CENTR will celebrate its 20th Anniversary in 2019 and would like to mark this occasion by publishing a series of articles covering industry research, historical data analysis and articles on the future of technologies such as digital IDs. Some ideas of themes could be: 20 years of Digital ID; the past, present and future of ccTLDs; ccTLDs and identity; history of industry; statistics on identity / ccTLDs, the evolution of digital ID from a legal perspective. These articles will be published over the course of the year, before all being combined together into one paper, which will be published at the end of 2019. The foremost aim of this paper is to strengthen the industry's reputation, highlight its achievements and increase its visibility.

Topic and format

Please contact Lydia Stoddart, CENTR's Communications Manager, lydia@centr.org with your potential idea(s). You will then be able to discuss the topic in more detail, along with fee expectations, deadlines and any other details. The format of the articles is relatively free, though we would recommend each article to be between 5-10 pages. The contributor can choose to add (or ask CENTR to add) photos, images or infographics to their publication. CENTR reserves the right to proofread and adapt the format of the text to ensure consistency between all articles.

Deadline

The aim is to publish the articles during the course of 2019, so the deadline to submit each individual paper will be agreed upon separately between CENTR and the contributor. Each article would need to be sent at least two weeks before publication date, in order to allow time for proofreading (if necessary) and formatting. All the articles will then be collected together into a single publication in October 2019.
